

Apostle Of Happiness To Live Here

Burr McIntosh, The "Cheerful Philosopher," Becomes A Sierra Madiran

Burr McIntosh lives in Sierra Madre now. Accompanied by Mrs. McIntosh the "cheerful philosopher" came to the city quietly last Saturday and took possession of quarters that had been prepared for him at No. 11 Bella Vista Terrace, where he plans to reside permanently "away from it all."

"I know we shall be content and very happy here where everyone fortunate enough to enjoy the peace and quiet of this beautiful city must be very happy. We have wanted to come here for a long time," said the actor, author, publisher, war correspondent, photographer, lecturer and after-dinner-speaker.

His first public appearance in the city of his adoption will be next Wednesday when the "cheerful philosopher" and Mrs. McIntosh will be guests of honor at the luncheon of the Sierra Madre Woman's club.

Known from coast to coast by reason of his various activities and his long advocacy of kindness and helpfulness between mortals. Mr. McIntosh is not among strangers here. Many know or have met him. Col. H. E. Hersey, for instance, was with Col. Roosevelt and his "Rough Riders" in Cuba during the Spanish-American war when Mr. McIntosh was with that outfit as a war correspondent.

As an actor, he has created many parts well known in American stage history. Such parts as "Colonel Moberly" in "Alabama," "Jo Vernon" in "The Mighty Blacksmith," "Puddin'-head Wilson," and "Senator Wm. H. Langdon" in "The Gentleman from Mississippi." He was the original "Taffy" in the famous production of "Tribby" and played in the 10 and 20 year revivals in New York. He also played "Squire Bartlett" in the original production of "Way Down East" and the same part in D. W. Griffith's great picture. Since coming to Hollywood, five years ago, Mr. McIntosh has played over twenty five character parts in leading film productions.

In 1890 the Burr McIntosh Studio was opened. Within three years he became the best-known photographer of interesting people and events in the country.

"The Burr McIntosh Monthly" appeared in 1903 and for six years gave delight to many thousands.

In 1898 Mr. McIntosh went to Cuba as war correspondent in the Cities Join In Sinking Test Shafts

County Helps In Survey To Locate Community Water Spreading Grounds

Experiments to determine water consumption rate of the gravel in Santa Anita wash, proposed site of a spreading ground for conservation of Big Santa Anita and Sierra Madre Canyon flood waters, will begin at once.

This decision was reached at a field conference in the section Wednesday, when Chief Engineer Eaton of Los Angeles County Flood Control bureau conferred with City Engineer Lynde of Sierra Madre and engineering representatives of Arcadia and Oakwood syndicate.

As a result of the consultation between the engineers, several shafts are to be sunk near the wash to determine possible flow of the floodwaters through the soil to the mutual underground basin from which the three communities draw their water supply.

Parade Grounds For Boy Scouts On New Rifle Range

Through the generosity of Santa Anita Rifle Club, Sierra Madre Boy Scouts are to have a new parade ground and recreation field in Laurel Canyon, site of the rifle club's new target range.

For several weeks now, boys of Troop No. 1, with W. O. Preston, scoutmaster, have been enjoying campfire privileges of the ideally situated spot in the foothills near the north limit of the city, holding their regular meetings in the outdoor setting.

Now, through an offer made today by the rifle club, the youngsters will clear brush in the section to make their own playground and parade field. They started work last night.

As an outgrowth of the Scout use of the club grounds, it is probable that a junior rifle club will be formed here soon to practice on the fine targets recently installed.

Hiker Lives After Plunge Over Falls

Two Others Meet Death In Similar Accidents On The Sturtevant Trail

Missing death by the narrowest of margins, a Los Angeles hiker plunged nearly a hundred feet down rocky Sturtevant Falls last Friday afternoon, landed in the mass of boulders at the bottom of the precipice—and lived to tell the tale.

The miraculous escape from a death which has claimed the lives of at least two others in recent years was related when a bruised, water-soaked figure stumbled into Fern Lodge, a quarter of a mile down the trail from the scene of the accident, at 11 o'clock Friday night.

According to an account given R. B. Hosford, proprietor of the lodge, the hiker, known only as Mr. Bradley to the mountain resort keeper, lost his balance while sleeping on a boulder above the lip of the falls.

He awoke to find himself caught in the swiftly rushing stream, which plunges down the canyon at an angle of over 45 degrees at Sturtevant Falls. Struggling to hold his own on the slippery rocks, Bradley was swept over the edge and lay unconscious in the canyon bottom for nearly three hours before he came to and fought his way back to the camp.

At Fern Lodge he received shelter and first-aid for two nights, recovering sufficiently to take the journey out of the mountains by pack-horse Saturday afternoon. Lacerations, a sprained ankle and badly bruised eye were his only injuries.

Work Of 10 Artists In New Exhibit

Eagle Rock Painters Offer Landscapes, Marines And Moderns In Showing

Colorful landscapes and marines of California, as well as several strongly modern canvases, replacing the vivid desert pictures of Mary Elizabeth Schleussner, were viewed by art patrons from many cities of Southern California at the reception in the "Little Gallery" last night which opened the June exhibit by ten Eagle Rock painters.

Twenty-two pictures, varying widely in subject, scope and treatment, have been contributed by Ruth Peters, Conrad Buff, Aaron Kilpatrick, Stella A. Fiske, J. C. Green, Peter Neilsen, Will Feltham, P. C. Baldwin, J. Bazart, and Allan Stover, all Eagle Rock artists, the showing being known as "The Eagle Rock Exhibit."

Perhaps most striking of all are two powerful moderns by Ruth Peters, whose work combines originality of technique and fine feeling for related form. "Pi-oner Mother," is one of two symbolical murals by Conrad Buff, who is also showing "Santa Paula Valley," formal landscape with hazy blue hills looming behind a foreground of boldly painted eucalyptus trees.

"The Sequoia," water color by Allan Stover, suggests cool redwood depths. "Under Blue Skies," a picture of Emerald Bay, and "The Trees and the Sea" are among canvases being exhibited by Aaron Kilpatrick. A strikingly different painting by the artist is "Desert Near Indio," a picture of the wasteland bloom.

John Anthony Conner has contributed "Desert Near Palm Springs," "Palos Verde Rocks and Surf" is from the brush of P. Clark Baldwin; and Stella A. Fiske is exhibiting "Rock Bound Coast," a Laguna Beach scene.

Geese winging upward from a sea marsh are the subject for one of two strong paintings by Peter Neilsen; while Will Feltham has contributed a canvas of dunes, sparkling sea and sun-bathed eucalyptus trees that is glorious in color and light.

Mrs. E. E. Bacon, president of the Woman's Club, and Mrs. John H. Robertson, former president, served coffee and punch at the reception last night. Others assisting Mrs. Fred Griebow on the reception committee were Mrs. Alfred James Dewey, Mrs. W. S. Hull, Miss Harriet Grant and Miss Laura Cadmus.

R. J. Davies, for the past year president of Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce, resigned his position in that organization Monday night.

Announcing that he had sold his interest in Solury and Davies, local grocery firm, to Thomas Solury, who will carry on the business alone, the resigning

Robert J. Davies president thanked the directors for their friendship and aid, and expressed regret that he was leaving the city.

A vote of thanks for his work as head of the chamber was given in a resolution accepting his resignation with regret. Monday, June 15, was fixed for election of a new president.

Victim Of A Bold Hold Up Saves Prize

Edward Grinnel Gives Bandit Battle After Being Waylaid And Slugged

Savagely slugged from behind with a blackjack, Edward Grinnel, conductor on the night run of the Pacific Electric here, was beaten to the ground by a thug early Saturday morning, rose and grappled with his assailant, and chased him nearly two blocks before the bandit escaped in an orange grove.

One vicious blow on the head peeled Grinnel; a second made him mad. Leaving the last car at the Mountain Trail avenue end of the line at a few minutes before 1 o'clock, the conductor started to use a cut-off which saves him a few minutes each night in reaching his East Laurel avenue home.

Carrying a satchel with the day's receipts, he had covered a few yards of the path which traverses a vacant lot behind Mt. Wilson Tavern, when the bandit stepped out from behind a screen of pepper trees and felled him with a black-jack blow.

Struggling to his feet, the conductor closed in with his attacker, a man as large as himself, who slugged him again and fled to Highland avenue as Grinnel again rose, fighting mad.

The bandit fell in the middle of the street and the conductor landed on top of him. A swift battle of fists ensued, with Grinnel still too groggy from the rain of blows to hold his armed assailant, who broke away and escaped in the night through a nearby orange grove.

Saving his satchel, which contained approximately $40 receipts, Grinnel made his way home where first-aid measures revealed that his injuries were slight due to protection afforded by a heavy cap.

Familiarity with the conductor's habits and schedule, coupled with the fact that the bandit had no car, led police to believe that he may be a Sierra Madre man.

Deer Strolls On Central Ave; Visits City Hall

Joe Swanson, employee in the city engineer's office, rubbed his eyes early Friday morning and wondered if he was in Sierra Madre or back in the mountain wilderness.

For a full-sized, 200 pound doe stood motionless in the street before the city hall. Unbelievable, but true. Could it be one of those decorative bits of lawn statuary so popular in the '80s. Indeed not. Swanson took a step forward and the deer leaped gracefully away toward its native haunts.

It is not unusual to see the creatures near the north limits of the city, where householders see them almost daily, but this is the first one that has been observed in the downtown section for years.

Survey Of City Affairs Is Under Way

Recommendations To Follow Inquiry Into Municipal And School Methods

A survey of Sierra Madre City and school affairs got underway this week under the direction of The California Taxpayers' Association.

Albert H. Campion appeared at the City Hall Wednesday, explained that he had been appointed to conduct the municipal angle of the investigation here and questioned city officials regarding outlines of administrative departments. The research man will be on the job for about a month.

Another member of the research department of the association, J. C. Bennett, will conduct a survey of fiscal and administrative angles of Sierra Madre Grammar School, Campion said.

The preliminary survey of Sierra Madre municipal affairs will closely follow an investigation of Alhambra civic matters conducted by California Taxpayers Association last year.

Officials of the organization say that its purpose is to form a clear basis from which suggestions toward administrative efficiency and economy may be made.

Constructive recommendations will be offered after comparative estimates of unit costs here and in cities of corresponding population and assessed valuation are compiled.

The survey is being paid for by a group of local men, James Musatti, executive secretary of the state organization, declared in a telephone conversation yesterday.

Azusa's Ball Team Plays Here Tonight

Local Legion League Leaders Pile Up Huge Score Against East Pasadena

Sierra Madre Legion players, only undefeated team in the 18th District Night Ball league, will match pitching skill and batting ability with the Azusa American Legion team tonight on the local diamond at the school athletic grounds. New regulation bases are being installed for the game.

Mayor H. Clay Reavis, shortstop on the Legion team, cracked out his first home run of the season Friday night in the Sierra Madre-East Pasadena game, most uneven contest yet staged on the new playground diamond, but thoroughly enjoyed by home fans.

A cheering crowd which filled the two grandstands and lined the edges of the field looked on as the Mayor's homer in the second inning swelled a tide of runs which completely swamped the out-of-town team 25 to 3.

With the impetus of three straight victories behind them, the local players rode their winning streak for all it was worth.

Waverly Pratt, now star pitcher of the League, held East Pasadena at a standstill with 13 strikeouts in 6 innings, allowing only one run, a fluke, and only one hit. Irwin took his place and held the East-Pasadenans down to 2 runs, 2 strikeouts and 2 hits in the last 3 innings.

High-spots of the game were: a resounding whack from Minor Harkness, Sierra Madre star slugger, which snapped off the bat; Waverly Pratt taking three strikes with bases full, an East-Pasadena slugger swinging at a fast ball so viciously that the bat left his hand and traveled half-way down the field. Taylor, Boele and Pratt made three-base hits and two-base hits were made by Harkness and Burroughs.

Next Wednesday night picked players from the four Sierra Madre teams will mass their strength in an "All Star" team

Schneeberger, at the social meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star, last Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Organizations To Join In Sponsoring Rose Parade Float?

Every civic and social group in Sierra Madre may join in construction of a huge float to represent this city in the "Nations and Games in Flowers" parade. Rose Tournament event heralding Olympic year, if plans made public at the chamber of commerce meeting Monday night are carried through.

Gordon Brooks, appointed to confer with Charles Cobb of the Pasadena parade advisory committee, reported to the chamber Monday night, urging the directors to join in sponsoring an entry next New Year's Day.

Greatly increased advertising and publicity value of the parade this year brought forth favorable comment from the directors, who expressed themselves willing to aid in construction of a float to represent all Sierra Madre.

Clubs and social organizations here will soon be asked to join in sharing the expense of a giant float.

Triple Bill Offered By The Players

Ambitious Production Program For Summer Showing Now In Rehearsal

Sierra Madre Grammar School auditorium will be the scene of a gay community entertainment on Saturday night, June 20, when Sierra Madre Community Players present their second program on the school-house stage.

A triple bill, composed of three brilliant one-act plays, will herald the summer season of the drama group here. The evening's entertainment will consist of three dramas now in rehearsal, "The Rest Cure," by Gertrude Jennings; "For Art's Sake," humorous production from the pen of David Buchan, and "Job's Kinfolk," entertaining drama centered about the life of a Carolina mill town.

Final rehearsals will be arranged for the afternoons of June 16 and 17, and Friday night, June 19, it was announced at an executive meeting of the players in the Community Service Building Tuesday night. Casts will be announced next week.

The Community Players are now considering an outdoor production of Rostand's romantic play, "The Romancers," in a Sierra Madre garden, officials of the group have divulged.

Two other plays are being whipped into shape at the Community Players workshop now. They are "Pomander Walk" and "Keeping Up Appearances," productions to be released later this summer.

War Veterans Join In Honoring Their Departed Comrades

Massed colors of the American Legion and two Sierra Madre Boy Scout troops, marching to military airs made a vivid spectacle of the Memorial Day parade down Central avenue Saturday morning.

With F. B. Seelye, veteran of the "Siege of Richmond," and others who saw service in the Spanish-American, Mexican and World wars, Sierra Madre's veterans honored their departed comrades at Sierra Madre Cemetery with floral decorations and a salute by the Legion rifle squad.

The ceremonies at City Park were opened by the school band playing "America" and other Memorial Day offerings. F. M. Eakman, accompanied by Mrs. Eakman and Mrs. C. M. Barker, sang "The Trumpeter" and "The Christ in Flanders."

Introduced by Legion Commander Fleming, Rev. Thomas Carter, speaker of the day, reviewed deeds of America's heroes, and the Legion Auxiliary, dressed in white, marched in formation to the bronze memorial plaque where they left a wreath in honor of Sierra Madre's soldier dead.

A list of World War Veterans who have passed away in Sierra Madre, furnished THE NEWS for publication last week, did not contain the names of Robert V. Carr and John Joseph Kelleher. The list was incomplete without these names.

MARRIAGE OF ROBERT TARR TO WISCONSIN GIRL IS ANNOUNCED

The marriage of Robert M. Tarr, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. Tarr of 247 West Montecito avenue, to Miss Alice M. Milligan, a native of Wisconsin and recently of Glendale, Calif., was announced today, the event having taken place last September.

The young people until Tuesday last succeeded in keeping this secret from all but a few intimate friends, one of whom motored with them to Yuma, Arizona, where the marriage took place. They will live in Sierra Madre for the present.

Great Need Now For Real Co-operation

National Chamber Of Commerce Manager Talks Of Prosperity's Return

Mistakes of governments, groups and individuals brought about the world-wide business depression from which this country is emerging, Paul Clagstone, western manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Kiwanis Club and the local Chamber of Commerce at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday.

This country was affected by resort to the dole in England, by conditions in Russia, by governmental efforts to control the enormous sugar crops of Cuba and the coffee crops of Brazil, all of which contributed to a more or less chaotic condition, as did the efforts of this government to control the supply of wheat.

Reporting the proceedings of the recent convention of the chambers of commerce of the country at Atlantic City, Mr. Clagstone said it was the almost unanimous opinion of representatives at that gathering that business organizations and the people throughout the land should unite to prevent government interference with business and to bring about a modification of the Sherman anti-trust law as it affects national resource industries.

One of the main causes of the smash in this Nation in 1929 was the abstraction of funds from legitimate business and its diversion to speculative channels, Mr. Clagstone said. No panacea had been found for the resultant condition, but the country had to work out a basis upon itself and through cooperation this end is in sight.

Clear thinking, cooperation and determination will hasten the complete return to prosperity, he said. The closer the cooperation between the business people of the communities, no matter how small, the quicker will completely normal times appear, for the Nation cannot be prosperous until the units comprising it prosper.

Business men everywhere should be on the alert during the next session of Congress to prevent radical departures that would greatly delay the return to normal conditions, Mr. Clagstone advised. Undoubtedly, he said, there would be proposals looking to State socialism, government ownership and government control of the banking, insurance and other businesses which would be harmful to the National welfare and retard the complete return to prosperity.

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.—Prov. XVI:32.

Let this truth be present to thee in the excitement of anger,—that to be moved by passion is not manly, but that mildness and gentleness, as they are more agreeable to human nature, so also are they more manly. For in the same degree in which a man's mind is raised to freedom from all passion, in the same degree also is it nearer to strength.

DID IT OCCUR TO YOU?

By George C. Handy

When the intelligent and loyal small town purchaser buys in the home town store he gets full value for his money, he has the satisfaction of knowing that he has cheered a fellow townsman, and there are no more deserving people in the world than these small town fellow townsmen of yours and mine.

They are the genuine, true blue kind. They work for all they get, then they don't get much. They support the church and the school and the fair and the lodge and do their bit in the community drive and the Board of Commerce and the Rotary and Kiwanis and Lions and Exchange Clubs. They are first on the list when contributions are needed and last too often when there are purchases to be made. Yet they continue to serve. When guests arrive unexpectedly the butcher responds to a telephone request for a little after-hours service and the grocer runs up with a yeast cake or an extra bottle of milk, but we expect that. No one loses any sleep about the number of such calls the butcher and the grocer get.

Yes sir, these small town merchants are true blue, I tell you, and they deserve a lot more consideration than they get. And the funny part about it is that it is good business from a purely economic standpoint to trade with them. They give you back all you spend in truthful merchandise, and in service and friendship a whole lot more.

AMBITIOUS WOMAN
BEATS FIVE MEN; WILL
TRY 10 NOW—AT CHESS

Simultaneous tandem play by Miss La Vie M. Hines, Alexander V. Taylor and L. H. Heath will be a feature of the third bi-monthly meeting of Sierra Madre Chess Club in City Park House next Saturday afternoon, June 6.

Both Taylor and Heath are noted for playing ability, and Miss Hines is said to be one of the most skillful woman chess players in California.

She will put on a spectacular pay at the second Annual Morphy Day Chess Carnival to be held in Masonic Temple on June 20, when she will simultaneously meet 10 women players, an unusual contest. Chess authorities declare that it is extremely uncommon for a woman to possess her chess ability.

Reason for their statement may lie in the fact that she matched five male players from the Sierra Madre Chess Club last week in a simultaneous contest and defeated them all in an hour and a half.

Honoring the eighth birthday of Charleen Norris, a birthday party was given on Tuesday afternoon in the rose arbor of the Norris home at 297 Mariposa avenue.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the dainty decorations. Six large birthday cakes were cut and served with ice cream and punch. Games, for which prizes were awarded the winners, were played. Guests included Charlee Rasbach, Mildred Osterhout, Louis Lovell, Irene Lloyd, Irene Dalzell, Martha Lewis, Holly Henning, Norma Sexton, Vera and Melba Scott, Jane Perry, Peggy Marlyn Rhubarb, Dorothy Groth, Alma Barnes, Mary De Temple, Georgyne, Maurine, Peggy, Katharine, Donna and Diana Norris.

HEAD OF PILGRIM MISSION TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Seth C. Rees, general superintendent of the Pilgrim Holiness Churches in America and foreign lands, will preach in the Pilgrim church, 26 Windsor Lane, Sunday night, June 7, at 7:30. This work was organized in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1897, with Rev. Rees as general superintendent. Rev. Mr. Rees is a preacher of remarkable ability and his coming to Sierra Madre is considered an outstanding event.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Railsback and niece Florence Gillon, of 233 West Grand View avenue, enjoyed the weekend at Sequoia National Park.

Gordon Brooks of 137 West Montecito avenue, was one of the 16 drawn for service on the Los Angeles County grand jury last Wednesday.

A. C. Lufkin of Pasadena, was in town transacting business on Tuesday.

GIRLS MODEL GOWNS
AT A FASHION SHOW

A gay fashion show was given by the League of Youth as a special feature of "Carnival Night" in old Congregational Church last Friday.

Latest modes in girls sports and formal apparel were exhibited by a group of attractive models, which included Wilma Morrow, Babs Baines, Ada Fowler, Jane Holland, Angeline PerLee and Dorothy Lichnog. A collegiate number displaying colorful beach pajama styles was a high spot of the review, directed by Dorothy Lichnog.

Fortune telling, favors, a variety show and sale of home-made candies were other features of the entertainment, which was arranged and directed by Barbara Phillips.

Among committee members were: Beth Manning, in charge of decorations; Catherine McBurney, candy sales; Mr. Wolf, fortune telling; James Kelleher, publicity; and Dorothy Lichnog, favors.

Bertha Lee Fitzgerald played musical accompaniments to the review and variety show, which included several numbers by a trio, a tuba player, dancers and other performers.

Fresno is the latest California city to turn down a bond issue. An issue of $1,250,000 for an auditorium and one of $750,000 for the acquisition of land failed last week.

Nothing can be added to or taken away from this advice on how to be happy.

GLARING HEADLIGHT BLINDS PEDESTRIAN —IS STRUCK BY CAR

Blinded by the glaring headlights of a passing southbound machine, Max Marcus of 215 North Auburn avenue, stepped into the street and was struck and painfully injured by a northbound automobile Sunday evening.

The accident occurred on Auburn avenue near Montecito at 8:50 o'clock. The driver of the machine was Harry P. Grant of 3201 Mataro street, Pasadena.

Mr. Marcus was given first-aid and rushed to Dr. Keaster's hospital, where he was reported badly bruised but resting easily Monday morning.

Grant was not held since police investigation bore out his story that he was traveling at a reasonable rate of speed up Auburn when Marcus stepped in front of the automobile.

By JESSIE WARD RUSSELL
Landscape Gardener

QUITE A LOT of answers given here to questions asked by Sierra Madre home gardeners will be of interest to many persons other than those who found problems upon which they felt the need of advice and this department will be given over entirely to them in this issue of THE NEWS. The accumulation of questions and answers follows:

Question—Is it proper to fertilize Ivy, Umbrella trees and Passion vines?

Answer—Yes. Should Passion vines be planted in sunshine or shade? Sunshine.

What causes Umbrella trees to lose their leaves during the summer time?

Red Spiders. They can be controlled by dusting trees with powdered sulphur. A strong force of water applied to the foliage will do a lot towards keeping down the pests.

Should avocado trees be pruned?

Very little. Branches that are lying in the ground should be cut off but those that just clear the ground should be left to shade the trunk. If a low-growing branch is growing so strongly that it is taking the strength from the upper part of the tree, it should be cut off at the trunk. This will throw the growth back into the main part of the tree. Outside of this shaping up the tree, no pruning should be done as the avocado needs all the foliage it can get to manufacture the fruit.

What are the best summer varieties of avocados?

The leading summer variety commercially, is the Nabal variety, a round green fruit weighing about a pound. The flavor is equal to the Fuerte. Other fine summer fruit are: Mayapan, round purple fruit, 1 pound or over; Itzamna, a pear shaped green fruit, 1 pound or over; Queen, a very large purple fruit, pear shaped, weighs 1½ to 2 pounds; and Dickenson, a round, black fruit about one pound in weight. All these summer varieties are of Guatemalan origin and are more tender than the Mexican varieties which bear in the fall and winter months.

What is the name of the double shell-pink Camellia? Pink perfection. It is a favorite variety for the gardener.

What is the matter with my Gardenia plant? It is turning yellow.

We believe it is too hot and dry to grow this plant successfully in Sierra Madre.

What location is best for Fuchsias? I have a plant growing in a very shady spot but it is not doing well.

Fuchsias want plenty of light but very little direct sunshine, also lots of water. Will need fertilizing occasionally. Probably your plant is growing in too dense a shade and needs more light. Hydrangeas and begonias will grow in the same bed with Fuchsias.

Should Daphne plants be grown in sun or shade?

If grown in a lawn where it does not get reflected heat from a building it can be in the sun but otherwise better to plant in partially shady spot.

Tournament To Open New Rifle Range

Crack Shots Of San Gabriel Valley Want To Compete With Local Marksmen

With the installation of a massive 12-foot target butt at the new range about completed, interest in Santa Anita Rifle Club affairs was given a sharp impetus this week with word that marksmen of nearby cities want to compete in a tournament here. Such an event may be arranged for formal opening of the range.

Present target scores, figured on a basis of 250 shots with Springfield '30's, were posted in American Legion headquarters this week and will form a new starting point for competition on the Sierra Madre range. Tabulated present standing, with 190 giving rank of Marksman, 214 Sharpshooter, and 224 Expert Rifleman, follows:

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

MIXING work with pleasure last Saturday proved very profitable according to the Chief. He said that the picnic held at the Wistaria grounds on Memorial Day was a success because we got $25.00 worth of work done for $10.00 worth of food. With good sandwiches as an incentive, the boys just about cleaned off the entire Scenic Point. The morning was spent in hoeing and argument until time to eat, and the argument continued until the work ceased. After the lunch was partly digested, Vin Fleming put his baseball craze into action and a great game ensued.

Each of the ladies brought a home-made cake and you can imagine the fatality. There was not enough left to supply a canary with dessert. It might be said of the picnic that a "good time was had by all."

There is no meeting of the firemen tonight, this being the first Friday of the month. A meeting of the ladies is scheduled in our place. We will be at home, so bring along the baby and give us a visit.

Since we are in the business of directing Wistaria Fetes, we will undoubtedly come under the list of the criticized. Look out! Guy Scott must plan on fishing at home. He is repairing the fish ponds on the Fennel Estate, where he is now living.

The victim of the "reed basket" wise crack of last week, wishes it emphatically stated that the story is without foundation. That is, there is no cause for any anxiety, he says. Well—where there's smoke there must be fire.

Our old friendly enemy, Gordon Brooks, has been called to serve on the Grand Jury. We wish him well.

And now since summer's drawing near, the sun will shine both bright and clear.

At fighting fires we'll do our turn, so when your weeds you try to burn.

And they should burn 'way round about, why we can put the "FIRE OUT!"

Property Is Transferred To New Home

Daughters Of British Empire At Once Take Out Permit To Remodel Building

The Daughters of the British Empire took title and possession Wednesday of the property at 647 Manzanita avenue, chosen as a site for the British Old People's Home in California, and six guests will move into the new structure by the end of next week.

Transfer of papers and keys to Mrs. R. J. Morrison of Pacific Palisades, state president, occurred on an auspicious date, June 3—birthday of the present King George, at the office of W. R. Humphries.

Immediately after title passed Mrs. Morrison filed application for a permit to alter and improve the property which will be a scene of extensive building operations before next fall.

Present work is to consist of remodeling and redecorating the nine-room residence and guest house. The society will shortly begin construction of new wings and additional buildings to accommodate at least forty guests before autumn. Already many applications have been received, and a waiting list is being compiled.

One of the first outgrowths of the purchase will be formation of a local chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire.

The Sierra Madre home is to provide restful and homelike living conditions in a beautiful setting for aged men and women of British blood in eleven Western states.

Through endowments and donations, prominent citizens of the Empire will take an active part in support of the project. Lady Astor, who has contributed substantially to other British homes in the United States, has evinced keen interest in the undertakings here. Rooms and sections will be named after donors. The British organizations in America represented on the board of directors include the Caledonian Club, the Canadian Club, Daughters of Scotia, Ladies of St. George and Sons of St. George.

All will be asked to aid in maintenance of the new home, which is now receiving contributions through Sierra Madre Savings Bank, delegated to act as treasurer of the organization.

SHOULD RELIGION BE MODERNIZED? TOPIC OF BETHANY PASTOR

Rev. William Duncan Ogg, pastor of Bethany church, has chosen a controversial subject for his Sunday night service. He will preach on modernization of religion.

Should Christianity be made over to suit this modern age? Must it change with the ever-changing world? Is Christianity behind the times? Do new modes of life require a new religion? Those are questions to be discussed by Bethany's pastor at the services.

Burr McIntosh Is A Sierra Madrean

Spanish-American war, representing Leslie's Weekly and a syndicate. His photographs of the landing of Shafter's army and the "Rough Riders" first battle were printed four days before any others from the front. Because of what he did in those days, he has recently been made an honorary member of the "Rough Riders."

Before coming to Los Angeles five years ago, Mr. McIntosh, as "The Cheerful Philosopher," gave courage to many thousands, from stations WAEF (American Telephone and Telegraph Company), and WJZ (American Radio Corporation). Since coming to California he was on KJL for five months, KMTR for a year, and for the past two years and ten months every Sunday evening his messages have come from KFWB, from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Many thousands listen to his constructive and helpful half-hour from British Columbia to Mexico.

In 1905 Mr. McIntosh was the official photographer of the world famed "Taft to the Philippines" trip, when Miss Alice Roosevelt became engaged to the late Nicholas Longworth. For two years after this trip he toured the country with an illustrated lecture.

Upon his return from this trip he visited the Southern part of California for the first time. He has always been "sold" on it, and, six years later, having disposed of his interests in the studio and monthly, in 1911, he came to Los Angeles to create "Art Haven," the home of art, music, literature and drama. Finding no cooperation he went to San Francisco where, for three years he successfully conducted his photograph studio, but in 1913 he accepted an offer to go to New York to be starred in his first picture, "In Mizoura." Then came further picture successes, the World War during which he sold over five million dollars worth of Liberty Bonds and raised over half a million for the Red Cross and other charities. He didn't accept a cent. Then to France and Germany as a "Y" entertainer and correspondent.

Now he is where has longed to be for the last 20 years—in Sierra Madre. "Away from it all," his theme last Sunday evening on KFWB.
